Gandhi Assassinated Today

Political - Spiritual Leader Shot by One of Hindus Whom He Had Led to Independence

Mahatma Is Shot Three Times as He Mounts Dias To Conduct Prayer Meeting: Assassin Arrested Immediately, Is Held Incommunicado

BULLETIN

Bombay, Jan. 30—(AP)—Widespread looting, arson and stabbings started in Bombay tonight two hours after news spread of the Gandhi assassination.

Police fired many times into Hindu and Moslem rioters in the Nill Bazaar in central Bombay. Troops were being drafted into the city from outside camps.

The mobs brought traffic to a standstill. All shops closed down.

Twenty-four persons were admitted to hospitals with stabbing or stoning wounds.

New Delhi, Jan. 30—(AP)—A Hindu tonight shot to death Mohandas K. Gandhi, apostle of non-violence and father of Indian independence.

Police said the frail spiritual leader of India's hundreds of millions of Hindus was killed for "political reasons—because some persons did not agree with his appeals against violence".

Gandhi, 78, was walking to his prayer meeting grounds, on the lawn of the Birla Mansion, to appeal again for an end of communal violence. Three shots rang out at close range. One found his heart. Death came quickly to his emaciated body, wasted in a recent fast in the cause of peace amid the rival religious sects of India and Pakistan.

The assassin was held incommunicado. Police said he was a civilian from Poona, although he was wearing army clothes. Earlier this month a bomb had exploded near the spot where Gandhi was holding his prayer meeting.

Physician at Prayer Meeting

Dr. G. L. Qamara, a Hindu physician who was in the prayer meeting crowd, pronounced Gandhi dead shortly after the shooting. Death came within a few minutes, but the doctor was not certain of the exact time.

Tens of thousands of Indians streamed to Gandhi's bier in his quarters in the palatial residence of G. D. Birla, an industrialist who long had supported Gandhi. They passed sadly in single file.

Sobbing bitterly, Gandhi's personal secretary, S. Kalyanan, told The Associated Press:

"Bapu is dead."

"Bapu" Means Father

Bapu is the affectionate name for Gandhi, meaning father. To millions of his followers, he was known as Mahatma, or great-souled one. His full name was Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi.

Bystanders said Gandhi slumped forward as the third shot rang out. He seemed unconscious as he was carried to his quarters in Birla house. The secretary said death followed within a half hour.

A crowd of several hundred persons formed about Birla house. Many of them were weeping.

Death came less than a year after he achieved his life's main goal of independence from Great Britain for the teeming subcontinent of India. Paradoxically, however, Gandhi considered his triumph a failure because India and her 400,000,000 people were divided into separate dominions of India (Hindu) and Pakistan (Moslems). The partition resulted in bloody, destruction communal warfare between Moslems on one side and Hindus and Sikhs on the other.

Ended Fast Recently

It was in an effort to end the bloodshed that Gandhi undertook this month the last of his many fasts. After five days in which he threatened to starve himself to death, Gandhi broke his fast Jan 18 on the "pledge and counsel" of friends in both dominions. He said they had assured him of "complete unbroken friendship" between all communities.

During the tense days of his fast, some of the more militant shouted bitterly in the streets and before his living quarters:

"Let Gandhi die."

But there was every indication that this was the view of a tiny minority, embittered by the communal warfare.

Shortly after the fast, a bomb exploded near a prayer meeting, also in the Birla Mansion estate, but did no harm. A Hindu was arrested.

Educated in London

Some Hindus, their womenfolk violated in the communal upheavals, had resented Gandhi's pleas for peace with the Moslems

Gandhi, born to the upper Hindu caste, espoused the cause of the untouchables in latter years. Educated as a lawyer in London, he organized his first civil disobedience campaigns among Indians in South Africa early in the century. He returned to India in 1915 and became recognized leader of the Nationalists in 1925.

He attracted world attention in 1930 by leading 70 volunteers on a march from Amadabad to Dandi on the Gulf of Cambay to make salt illegally, in a protest against the British salt tax.

A victim of violence, Gandhi throughout his life urged his followers to campaigns of non-violence, even when the Japanese threatened and actually invaded India. His brushes with the British caused him to spend a total of 12 years in prisons.

"I always get the best bargains from behind prison bars," he once said.

Treated Benevolently

The British treated him with increasing benevolence through the years but as late as 1942, the British secretary of state for India, L. S. Amery, declared him an "arch saboteur" because of a civil disobedience campaign he engineered while Japanese forces were in Burma at the door of India.

Gandhi's wife died in February of 1944 while she and Gandhi were confined by the British in the palace of the Aga Kahn. They were married at the ages of 13 and lived together 61 years.. After the birth of her fourth son, she and Gandhi lived together as brother and sister at his suggestion.

'At the Gates'

New Delhi, Jan. 30—(AP)—The last person to whom Mohandas K. Gandhi spoke before he entered the Poona jail in 1932 was James A. Mills, widely traveled Associated Press reporter. The first to greet him when he was freed 17 months later was Mills.

"Why, Mr. Mills", Gandhi exclaimed, "if I should die and start to enter Heaven, I should expect to see you waitig to interview me at the gates!"

Mills died in 1942. Gandhi paid him a special tribute.

Dewitt MacKenzie's Estimate of Gandhi

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 30—(AP)—When history assigns Mahatma Gandhi his place it will, I believe, be among the great spiritual leaders of all time.

Gandhi-Ji was my friend — the friend of all humanity, for that matter. He was indeed a holy man whose outlook was not restricted by race or dogma. His whole code was summed up in goodness, and he took it where he found it.

His own life encompassed not only Hinduism, in which he was born, but Christianity, Mohammedanism, and other religions. And he once told me that the greatest influence in his life had been Christ's Sermon on the Mount. That provided the code which the little Mahatma followed.

Creates Dangerous Moment

Gandhi's death creates another terribly dangerous moment for India, since it might kindle flames which would sweep the whole vast sub-continent with its four hundred millions. The saving grace may be that the assassin was a Hindu — one of the Mahatma's own people. Had it been a Moslem who committed this awful deed, nothing could have prevented the horror of war between the Hindus and Moslems.

Gandhi's death has removed the most powerful figure—either religious or political—in the Indian peninsula. Just as he, more than any other, was responsible for the winning of independence from England, so his guidance was needed in the new life of freedom. He will be missed sadly, but he has left behind him a faithful and capable disciple—Prime Minister Nehru of the dominican of India. Nehru, who never challenged the judgment of Gandhi, may be expected to apply his undoubtedly great ability to following the precepts of the Mahatma.

Democrats Plan to Use Knutson's Bill as Pattern for Own

Possible Compromises on Tax Reduction Talked Over by Minority

Washington, Jan. 30—(AP)—Democrats hatched a plan today to use the GOP tax-cut bill as the model for a substitute containing a $3,200,000,000 corporation tax.

As a way to save a part of President Truman's own tax program, it looked like a forlorn hope.

The great election year debate entered its second day with Republicans confident their bill, with its $6,500,000,000 in tax reductions, will pass unchanged on Monday. The Republicans bill does not provide any new taxes.

The Democratic leadership had just about given up any idea of putting the president's $40-a-head tax-cutting proposal before the house. Instead, the search was on for a compromise.

The plan was to provide a rallying point for Democrats who have no enthusiasm either for Truman's ideas or the GOP bill by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the ways and means committee.

Democratic members of the house ways and means committee talked over possible compromises yesterday in Minority Leader Rayburn's office. Another meeting was set for today.

Reported Version

It was reported that one version they considered would:

1. Impose a new $3,200,000,000 tax on corporations, as proposed by Truman.

2. Increase individual exemptions from $500 to $600 (same as Knutson bill.)

3. Apply to all states the community property principle by which married couples may split their income for tax reporting purposes. This holds it at lower tax rates (same as Knutson bill).

4. Grant percentage cuts ranging from 15 per cent for the lowest incomes to 5 per cent in the upper brackets (compared with Knutson's 30 to 15 per cent).

5. Give special exemptions to elderly persons and to the blind (same as Knutson bill).

Such a combination might hold the overall tax cut to less than $2,000,000,000.

The rules for the big debate permit the Democrats to offer one substitute proposal for the Knutson bill.

Johanna Whitehill Asks New Trial of Damage Claims

Mrs. Johanna Whitehill hopes to come back to Lee county Circuit court for an encore.

The slim, 53-year-old English school teacher who fired a profane verbal salvo at local residents and justice in Lee county Circuit court Jan. 21, when denied a verdict in her $15,000 damage suit against the Overland Greyhound bus company, has asked for a new trial.

Terming the jury decision which failed to allow her any damages as contrary to law and against the weight of the evidence, Mrs. Whitehill contends that the court erred in giving multiple instructions to the jury on behalf of the defendant.

Judge George C. Dixon today set arguments for hearing Feb. 10 at 1:30 p. m. in Circuit court.

While the jury looked on, amazed Jan 21, Mrs. Whitehill voiced, in vitriolic terms, her low opinion of practically everything in Lee county after the jury's decision finding the bus company not guilty was announced.

Is Mild-Appearing

The mild-appearing woman had held the spotlight throughout the three-day course of her suit here, outgrowth of injuries she said she received when a suitcase fell from a luggage rack on a bus in which she was a passenger in 1944, striking her on the shoulder.

She claimed that a company doctor told her she had suffered no serious injuries, but that later, when she lost use of her right arm, another doctor told her she had suffered fractures of the shoulder and collarbone and that the bones had knit improperly.

The defense had characterized her as a "claim-minded" woman who in the past had brought damage cases against transportation agencies in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, and Missouri.

Twice during the case she became faint and had to be removed from the court room.

Divorce Granted

This morning Judge Dixon granted a divorce to Mrs. Zelda L. Forsythe, Amboy, by default from Frank J. Forsythe, Rockford on a charge of cruelty.

Gas Shortage in Detroit Is Worse

Detroit, Jan. 30—(AP)—Indefinite idlness was in prospect for thousands of Detroit auto workers today as a natural gas shortage grew worse.

Chrysler Corp., announced that 50,000 employes, whom it had expected to call back next Monday, would be laid off indefinitely. Its remaining 20,000 workers will continue on their jobs.

They are among an estimated 200,000 industrial workers laid off, Tuesday. At that time, it was believed the crisis would be over in about a week.

Michigan Consolated Gas Company, which supplies gas to the Detroit area, suspended its supply to industrial consumers Wednesday home consumers were not affected.

Company spokesmen said their supply of fuel oil, which is used in the manufacture of artificial gas, was critically low.

State Emergency Fuel Administrator Donald S. Leonard reported today that an emergency reserve of 2,000,000 gallons had been located at Rockford, Ill., and that 60 tank cars had been allocated to rush it to Detroit.

Leonard explained that the Illinois supply was located after he appealed to R. H. Lamberton, Chicago regional agent of the Office of Defense Transportation for aid in easing the Detroit situation.

Officials in India Must Move Swiftly

London, Jan. 30—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee is expected to appeal tonight to India and Pakistan to bury their differences in the crisis caused by the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi.

Attlee will broadcast a tribute to Gandhi on behalf of the British government and people shortly after the 9 p. m. (3 p. m. Central Standard Time) news period.

A government official said almost anything might happen in India because of the shooting. The official, who spent many months in British service in India, said authorites there have to move fast to keep the stuation in hand.

"Thank God the assassin was not a Moslem, or all hell certain would break loose."

Dixie Revolt Fails To Trouble Truman, Democratic Party

Southerners Protesting President's Policies on Discrimination

Washington, Jan. 30—(AP) — Democratic leaders refused to show nervousness today about a rising Dixie revolt against the policies of President Truman.

They insisted that harsh words from Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina are no sign there is to going to be a sort of "second secession."

The solid South may continue to complain about anti-poll tax, anti-lynch and no-color-line talk from the White House, they conceded privately. But they said it still will go solidly Democratic when the presidential election comes in November.

Truman Not Worried

At Columbia, S. C., 49 members of the South Carolina legislature got into the act yesterday.

They told the state Democratic executive committee affairs have reached the point where "we should reconsider our position in the national party."

They said they were not suggesting that the state's Democrats withdraw from the national organization. However, they declared, it is time to "take stock and review our position."

In Washington, Mr. Truman himself headed the list of Democrats who seemed to think there is more smoke than fire in southern threats to veer away from his leadership.

Folsom Blasts Policy

Anybody who wants to make a headline, he told a White House news conference yesterday, can get it by attacking the president.

Mr. Truman was referring specifically to the announcement of Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama that he is a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Every politician knows Mr. Truman has that sewed up, if he wants it. So Folsom's move added up to a protest against Mr. Truman's plea that congress set up a commission to prevent race discrimination on jobs, ban the poll tax and make lynching a federal offense.

Petrillos' Stand on FM Softening

New York, Jan. 30—(AP)—Radio programs originating on standard networks may be duplicated over frequency modulation stations beginning Sunday as a result of an agreement reached yesterday between James C. Petrillo and the four major networks.

The agreement also calls for a 60-day extension of the terms of the present contract between the networks and the American Federation of Musicians due to expire tomorrow midnight.

Announcement of the developments came in a joint announcement by the A. F. of L. Musicians Union president and officials of the networks—ABC, CBS, MBS and NBC.

The terse statement disclosed that Petrillo is dropping his demand for the networks to try to have affiliated stations employ more musicians. This action and the lifting of the ban on FM duplication of standard radio musical programs were regarded in industry circles as a softening of Petrillo's stand. They boosted hopes for an agreement lifting the union ban on live music for television.

The ban on FM duplication of standard radio musical shows had been in effect since 1945.

Three People Missing in Vermont Hotel Fire

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 30—(AP)—Two women and one man were reported missing today when a sudden blaze destroyed the Jesse Welden Inn forcing 100 guests to flee, some of them by jumping out windows, into 16-below-zero cold.

Fire Chief R. H. Sweeney said firemen were unable to get into the smoking wreckage in a search for bodies. There was confusion as to survivors because the hotel register burned.

The names were disclosed after a check with hotel employes, the chief said.

Railroad Mishaps, Airplane Crashes Exact Heavy Toll

Plane Tragedies Occur in Europe; Wrecks on Railroads in U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

Two airplane accidents in the Atlantic and Europe and two railroad mishaps in the United States took a heavy toll in lives and injuries today.

A British-South American Airways plane with 29 aboard and eight hours overdue at Bermuda from the Azores was believed lost. The passengers included Sir Arthur Coningham, a retired British air hero of the recent war.

At Frankfurt, Germany, the U. S. Air Force announced the crash of a plane, presumably a B-17 aiding in the search for a DC-3 transport missing since Tuesday. The number aboard the B-17 was not immediately learned.

Wreckage Sighted

The Air Force said the wreckage of a plane believed to be the DC-3 had been sighted in the lower French Alps. The DC-3 had 12 persons aboard—four crewmen and three American women and five children, dependents of U. S. soldiers in the Trieste area. The transport was en route from France to Italy.

The B-17 crashed about 20 miles east of the DC-3 wreckage.

The Union Pacific streamliner City of San Francisco was derailed near Ogallala, Neb., with 25 persons injured. Seven required hospitalization.

Another rail accident involved the Louisville & Nashville railroad's streamlined Hummingbird,

Abandon Election in Amboy Feb. 10

A special election on the question of whether or not Amboy should adopt the commission form of city government, scheduled last week by County Judge Grover W. Gehant for Feb. 10, will not be held as planned, it was learned today.

Hhe decision was made after it was decided that more thorough examination and discussion of the commission form of government was needed to acquaint Amboy citizens with the question before voting on the issue.

Judge Gehant ordered that the election be held Feb. 10 after petitions containing the signatures of 60 Amboy residents were filed here.

Rising Temperatures Are on Way to Many Sections of Midwest Today

Chicago, Jan. 30—(AP)—A new push of frigid air chilled New England and the North Atlantic states today but slowly rising temperatures over much of the midwest and south gave some relief from the critical gas shortage.

A cold air mass from the Hudson Bay dropped the mercury to 19 below zero in northern Maine, 20 below at Canton, N. Y., 41 below at Mt. Washington, N. J., and 20 below at Pelston, Mich.

The cold air mass reached as far west as Michigan and Ohio. Elsewhere in the midwest however temperatures climbed to near normal levels. At least five more days of normal weather are in prospect in the midwest. Temperatures generally were below normai in the south and far west.

Shortages of fuel still affected scores of communities and became more acute in some areas following the several recent cold snaps. Industries across the country forced to close because of the curtailment of gas supplies have made idle more than 250,000 workers.

Today's coldest weather was in scattered sections of the country with below zero temperatures reported in the Dakotas, Michigan, Northern New York and parts of New England

A fresh mass of cold air over Lake Superior moved into Michigan, spread across the middle Atlantic states and into New England. Saulte Ste. Marie, Mich., reported a low of -17 while marks of below zero prevailed in northern lower Michigan.

In Tennessee, Governor Jim McCord proclaimed a state of emergency and called for a voluntary fuel conservation program.

Snow fell in eastern Kansas and eastern Oklahoma but stopped in the Texas Panhandle. But there was still no rain in the drought-threatened central and northern California regions.

Ice conditions were the worst in 10 years on the Mississippi river and most barge lines tied up their vessels rather than risk losing their cargoes.

Mother Held for Arson Job She Urged on Child

Ferndale, Md., Jan. 30—(AP)—A 42-year-old woman today awaited Grand jury action on three charges of arson, after a 10-year-old girl admitted burning a neighbor's house to the ground "to please my mother."

Blonde, blue-eyed Louise Morrison told Trial Magistrate David B. Dunker yesterday her foster-mother, Mrs Helen Josephine Lock, asked her last June 5 if she could burn down a seven-room bungalow belonging to Mrs. Rose Sellner of Jessups, Md.

It was testified that Mrs. Lock had argued with Mrs. Sellner over the location of a garage which Mrs. Lock's husband contemplated building. She was held on $15,000 bond.

Planned Break at Sangamon County Jail Nipped by Watchful Deputies

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 30—(AP)—A planned jail break at the Sangamon county jail was nipped last night by Sheriff's deputies who had been watching for it since Monday, Sheriff Meredith Rhule said.

The antiquated jail has 22 prisoners, including three charged with murder and one accused of kidnaping.

Six prisoners were named by Rhule as ringleaders in the escape plot. One was Eldred Terry, 34, of Decatur, charged with murder in the holdup-slaying Saturday night of William Lines, Illiopolis tavern owner.

Using pieces of steel and spoons, the prisoners had undermined the casing of a barred window in the west cell block and were preparing to smash it through with a 15-pound window sash when deputies interrupted, Rhule said. Guards had been placed around the jail and outside the weakened window.

The sheriff said he had become suspicious Monday when he noticed a prisoner sitting in the window. While the men in the jail went about their escape plans, armed guards were stationed on hidden watch.

After the plot was foiled, privileges of all prisoners were revoked and each was locked in a cell alone pending an investigation.

★ SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
Jesus' Work of Salvation

Scripture: Isaiah 53:4-6; Matthew 1:21; 5:17; 20:26-28; Hebrews 4:15-16

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Apart from what others said about Jesus, both in the prophecies concerning the Messiah, before His coming, and in interpretation of the meaning of His life and death, after His crucifixion and resurrection, Jesus himself defined and described His mission at various times and in various ways.

The two outstanding statements are that in Luke 19:10, "The Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost," and the declaration of Jesus before Pilate, when the Roman governor asked him whether he was a king, "Thou sayest that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world that I should bear witness unto the truth."

But in many other statements and in the parables that He told, He emphasized the nature of His mission, and the spirit in which He had come, more fully to reveal God to man. He had not come, He declared, to destroy the law of the prophets, but to fulfill the truth that they had proclaimed. He had not come to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life for a ransom for many. He had come to show in His life and acts that true greatness was not in being bigger or more important than somebody else, but in service, "I am among you as one that serveth." He had come to be a Friend, as well as a Savior. "I have called you friends."

But all these statements centered in, and were summed up in, the one supreme fact of His work of salvation. That work of salvation, and the goodness of God in leading men to repentance, is the theme and exposition of the beautiful parables that Jesus told, the Parable of the Lost Piece of Silver, the Parable of the Prodigal Son, and, above all, the Parable of the Lost Sheep.

One of the sublime experiences of my life was as a student when I heard Ira D. Sankey sing the beautiful hymn, "There Were Ninety and Nine," which he had improvised years before during his association with the great evangelist, D. L. Moody. Moody was then in one of his last campaigns in Toronto, and the singer, then old and blind, had come for a day. His voice was clear and beautiful, despite his years, as he sat down at a small organ and sang. But one was out on the hills away, far-off from the gates of gold." That was the Lost Sheep and the quest of the Good Shepherd.

How different are the conception and way of the world! I once heard my friend, Dr. Albert Peel, of London, England, tell of a man who asked him early in the war how many people had been killed in air raids over England. When Dr. Peel replied, "About forty-five thousand," the man's comment was, "Not a large proportion." Not a large proportion! But Jesus was concerned about the loss of one. The world will never be safe for the many until we learn the Jesus way of concern for the one. That is the essence of salvation.

Another Payroll Tax?

The proposal that an additional payroll tax be imposed on the income-earners of this country to start building a fund for national, compulsory health insurance, poses a number of important questions.

The initial tax would be set at one per cent of individual income up to $4800 per year. That is admittedly insufficient and would have to be increased to at least 4 per cent and perhaps more This levy, coming on top of all the other payroll deductions for income tax and social security, would be a heavy burden on families which are having a tough time making both ends meet now. It would largely offset whatever income tax reductions are now in sight.

Going further is there any real need for compulsory health insurance? The fact that something like 40 000 000 people now have low-cost, voluntary protection, and that the membership in the Blue Cross and other plans is rapidly growing, certainly indicates that the answer is negative—and that the wage earners of the country are perfectly able to solve medical care problems for themselves without creating another paternalistic bureau with a legion of tax-eating employes.

Last, despite the denials, the verdict of history is that compulsory health insurance is just a prelude to the eventual socialization of medicine and related services. Bureaucratic government never goes half way—it operates on the all-or-none principle. And political medicine is always inferior.

Watch Public Works

A group of 53 well-known economists, most of them connected with universities recently proposed an inclusive anti-inflation program First item on their list was drastic reduction in government expenditures, to be coupled with reductions in both taxes and the national debt. It was further recommended that the cut in spending be accomplished, in part, by stopping all public works projects except those of an emergency character.

That is an absolutely sound suggestion. Untold billions of dollars have been and are being wasted on so-called public works and untold billions more will be wasted in the future of the social planners have their way. We have had flood control projects that actually flooded more land than they protected We have had reclamation projects which reclaimed little or nothing of value, and which were in reality a sort of camouflage for putting the government further into the power business We have had that monstrous example of the corporate state, the TVA, with its vast drain on the public treasury and its destruction of taxpaying business. And every known form of propaganda has been employed to sell the American people more authorities, on the TVA pattern, in the Northwest, the Southwest, the Midwest and elsewhere.

No public work should be authorized unless there is an absolute, provable need for it. And no public work should be authorized to provide a service which can otherwise be provided by private enterprise The enormously costly power projects are the prime examples of dissipated public funds The power industry, with its record of low-cost service to industry, agriculture and the domestic consumer would have done the job—and it would have paid large sums in taxes while it was doing it Here are places where we can fight inflation and, at the same time pare down our bureaucracy and save billions of our own money—taxes.

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Congressman Fred Hartley remarked a few days ago that he thought the department of justice had been "exceedingly lax" in its prosecution of Jimmy Petrillo under the Lea act. I think he was polite and reserved.

It has been horribly corrupt for years and it gets worse right along.

There is no way of showing how rotten it is except by an unlimited investigation by some committee of congress preferably, I should think with some reasonably mean and ornery chief investigator and counsel to dig up the facts and put the questions.

I suppose it is understood that by "corrupt" I do not mean to suggest the vulgar, city hall manifestations of corruption, such as an inch of unmarked $20-bills dropped into a councilman's umbrella hanging on the bar

I have no evidence that anything like that has gone on in the department itself, although when you get out along the line where people are more folksy and fundamental, that could be so By "corrupt" I mean perverted and depraved.

This department resembles an abandoned woman who has been picked up by the vice squad. As she appears before the judge, she is pretty and feminine, and if you met her in nice surroundings you would respect her It startles you to see her there in a court full of ambulance chasers, cub reporters with a professional pretext for their sinful interest, bums and bondsmen, pleading guilty before a middle-aged precinct politician who says, "$10 or ten days" and takes impure enjoyment as he does so. She doesn't bat an eye She has been bad so long she thinks decent people are queer.

* *

Our department of justice, our supreme court and, for that matter, all our courts, are supposed to be dedicated to equal justice under law. But that phrase is a joke now. Not even judges believe it. In the early days of the Roosevelt morality there was a fix in some political income tax cases in Louisiana. The indictments were dismissed with the explanation that there had been "a change of atmosphere."

There were several such cases in which the treasury agents, then operating under Elmer Irey, prepared bullet-proof evidence only to see the department of justice fumble the cards and finally agree to forget the whole business or settle for a fraction of the money which the defendants owed the treasury. Irey used to blow a fuse when you could get him on the subject of those department of justice jobs. The D. of J. would run you around and around from assistant to deputy and out-to-lunch and had-to-fly-back-to-see-his-sick-mother Then finally you would corner somebody and he would tell you that, of course, those treasury boys are fine fellows and full of zeal but, after all, an indictment isn't a conviction So, by agreement with defense counsel, the D. of J. accepted a settlement of 10 cents on the dollar and moved to dismiss because if they went to trial the guy might get acquitted and the government wouldn't get anything. And so much to the Birthday Ball racket and the March of Dimes racket and the national committee and how about your insurance and bonding business and a $10,000 job for somebody's no-good uncle?

* * *

That kind of compromise is a corruption of justice in itself, but it is as common as dirt now. The law says if you do you are guilty and you shall go. But, under this system, you can cut Uncle Whiskers in for a junior partner's share and walk away.

I mentioned the Joe Fay case in Newark which Tom Clark called "a —— outrage" and promised to do something about. But then he had a visit with Frank Hague and he never did do anything The same U. S. attorney who kicked that one around, Edgar R. Rossbach, is still on the job in Newark although Clark himself told me, the day before the trial began, that they were concerned about him because "that fellow," meaning Rossbach, had given them, at the department, "a lot of trouble." That was an income tax case and your little boy couldn't have done a worse job of prosecuting I pointed out repeatedly the political relationship of the defendant gorilla, Joe Fay, and the U. S. judge, Thomas F. Meaney, and Rossbach to Frank Hague and his machine I mentioned it to Clark even before the trial began, although he knew all about it because he had prosecuted some cases against other Hague union racketeers right there in the same district a few years before

Before this Fay case, Rossbach put an assistant on a big black market liquor case involving a New York criminal union racketeer named Ben Pross Pross was the key defendant with two petty co-defendants, but the government managed to lose Pross and convict the little fellows. Naturally, a little later, Meaney threw the two inferior defendants out the window as he could do with a legally clear conscience

* * *

There is always a delicate question how far a judge should go in running a trial. If he thinks the U. S. attorney is throwing down the case, deliberately sticking his chin out or neglecting the government's interest, he has the power to butt in and ask questions He can call him into his chambers and warn him. He can practically take over and make sure that none of the jurors is under obligations to anybody.

But does it ever happen?

The U. S. attorney in charge may be doing his best, as I believe the fellow was in the Pross case, but the fumble and fix can take place in the preparation of the case or the drawing of the jury. Or he might be an earnest third-rater stuck up against the trickiest criminal lawyers in the country. I will tell you something funny about this Pross case. Long after it was over, I called on the deputy who ran the trial. I wanted to read the record and see if it would reveal any clew to this fantastic acquittal of the boss crook but conviction of the little fellows who couldn't possibly have been guilty if Pross was innocent The deputy said it certainly did beat him how any jury could reach such a cockeyed verdict. But, when I asked for the record, he said he wouldn't dare let me see that. Why not? Oh, his boss, Rossbach, wouldn't let him. Rossbach wouldn't let Pegler see any records. Of course, this is a public record, no more Rossbach's property than yours or mine, but we are discussing the depravity of the department of justice.

* * *

The department persecuted a whole covey of citizens during the war for thinking disloyal thoughts The case dissolved after months of disgraceful nonsense It will be historic, for people were dragged clear across the country and forced to exist in poverty to be present at an outrageous farce poked up by a lot of Roosevelt's idolators merely because some of the defendants said they admired Hitler or hated Roosevelt. Let a hundred thousand Communists have flaunted their attachment to a power which is held to be a mortal enemy of our government. Not one of them ever has been indicted for sedition or treason and hundreds of them got jobs in the Roosevelt government.

Farm Loan Group Chooses Officers

(Telegraph Special Service)

Oregon, Jan. 30—Howard Webster, Polo and Thomas Richolson, Davis Junction, were elected to one-year terms on the board of directors of the National Farm Loan association of Oregon at a meeting held here Tuesday

Other directors are Keith E. Wehner, Rochelle, Francis R. King, Kings, and Frank F. Coffman, German Valley.

Wehner told the anual meeting that farmers in the community have 36 land bank and commissioner loans secured through the association.

A. A. Lauer, secretary-treasurer in his annual report, showed that during the past year the association closed 42 new loans for $278,700, and that reserves and surplus increased to $60,770, after payment of a five per cent regular and two per cent special dividend

Are Your Policy Limits Adequate?

Illinois General Laws have recently been amended increasing the death Statute to $15,000.

A policy providing liability limits of $5,000 and $10,000 can no longer be considered adequate protection in the event of an accident involving fatalities.

Policy limits of $15,000 and $30,000 or higher would seem advisable.

OFFICE Nurse

By Adelaide Humphries

© By Adelaide Humphries; Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Janice Hilary, pretty, efficient young nurse to popular and handsome society doctor Eric Holbrook, runs his office for him. Dr. Holbrook's beautiful, sadabout wife has just left for France to look after some property there. The evening of her departure the doctor, lonely, asks Janice to have dinner with him. It is his birthday. Janice, after a moment's hesitation, accepts—although it means breaking a date with Ben Archer, childhood friend who is very much in love with her. The evening is perfect and both Janice and Eric enjoy every minute of it. Without either meaning it to happen, they kiss. Eric apologizes. Then he adds before taking her home: "You know, of course, that we will have to talk about this, Janice."

* * *

XI

THE switchboard in Dr. Holbrook's offices was kept so busy throughout most of each working day that it was tacitly understood by all employes that no personal calls should come through unless absolutely necessary.

There had been several calls for Mrs McRae during the past week. Miss Willows had made no effort to conceal her disapproval, even when Mrs. McRae had explained that Edna Mae, her little girl, was sick Janice said that Mrs. McRae need not come in until the child was better but Mrs McRae said that Edna Mae was not that ill

"If you ask me," Miss Willows said, "it's she who's not well—not that child. She's worried half to death, and not over her little girl. Didn't you notice how her hands were shaking when she hung up the phone? Her face was white as a sheet of paper, too."

An hour or so had passed before Janice had time to think further about Mrs. McRae. Then, during what the office called a breathing spell, Janice noted that Eileen McRae had gone out. No one ever left the office without letting Janice know.

It was a half-hour before Mrs. McRae returned. And then she slipped in, her pretty, plump face flushed, and she did not offer any explanation or excuse. When it was time for the office to close Janice drew Eileen aside.

"I don't want to seem like a busybody," she said, with her warm friendly smile, "but I couldn't help noticing your going out this afternoon. If something's wrong, Eileen, maybe I could help."

* * *

"I HAD to meet someone—someone who couldn't come here," Mrs. McRae returned. "There's nothing wrong—nothing you, or anyone, could help."

She did look ill. More than that, there was a frightened look in her eyes.

"I wish you would stay home tomorrow," Janice said. "We can get along."

"I can't stay home!"

"But if Edna Mae is sick—" Janice did not mean to insist, or to attempt to pry deeper into whatever lay behind that apparent fear in Eileen's eyes, but she was really concerned. She thought, If I had not been so immersed in my own problems lately I would have known something was worrying Eileen.

"She's just got a little cold," Eileen returned. "The woman I have is keeping her in bed. It isn't necessary for me to stay home. I'll be in tomorrow, Janice."

There was nothing more Janice could say It seemed odd that Eileen insisted upon coming in, and that she had said so forcefully that she could not stay home.

It was odder still that Eileen did not appear the following morning

There were two phone calls for her that day, one in the morning, another after the lunch hour. Miss Willows reported this to Janice She did not say so, but it was evident that Miss Willows was worried.

Janice could not help feeling uneasy. She kept remembering the look of fear in Eileen's eyes. She suggested that Miss Willows phone Eileen's home and inquire about Edna Mae.

* * *

MISS WILLOWS seemed to consider that a good idea However she told Janice a short while later that she had been unable to get much satisfaction.

"The superintendent just said there was nobody home at the McRaes," Miss Willows reported. "I told him I knew very well that someone had to be—they'd hardly take the little girl out in a drizzling cold rain. But he just said, real curt and cross-like, he guessed he knew what he was talking about—no one was home"

"Well, I suppose we'll have to take his word for it," Janice said But she was far from satisfied. Some of the fear that had been in Eileen's eyes the day before seemed to have entered Janice's heart.

The worry continued to nag her as she walked home. It still was raining, a steady autumn downpour. But Janice was protected by her white raincoat and umbrella; she did not mind walking in the rain.

Her head and her umbrella were bent forward against the slant of the rain so that she almost collided with someone coming toward her as she rounded the corner into her street. She did not know why she was not more surprised to find it was Eileen McRae

She tried to hide what surprise she felt with a casual enough greeting. "Why, Eileen Sorry if I practically knocked you down."

"I have to talk to you," the older girl said "I have to talk to someone" She made no pretense now; her eyes were naked in their fear.

"Of course," Janice strove to keep her tone and manner natural. "Do you want to come home with me? Or perhaps you'd rather go somewhere we wouldn't be interrupted. There's a little tearoom around the corner on Third Avenue—"

"Yes, yes Let's go there!"

It must be even worse than I thought, Janice decided Poor Eileen, she looked desperate.

Wa-Tan-Ye Has Successful Concert

A large and appreciative audience attended the Wa-Tan-Ye benefit concert last night at the Dixon high school auditorium. Those prone to think that talent in music in confined to the larger cities are pleasantly surprised. The setting might well have been one of the famous concert halls, and the artists nationally famous.

The program itself was very well arranged, beginning with four numbers in a rather quiet mood, very capably sung by Mr James Patterson. Mrs. George J. Curran followed with "Omnipotence" by Schubert, sung in such a manner as to make those present feel that they were seated in a cathedral.

Mrs Byron Chasteen presented two piano numbers in a brilliant manner, proving again that she is well fitted for the concert stage

In the second part of the program Mrs. Curran sang Elsa's Dream from Wagner's Lohengrin, and later a group of five solos, including the well loved "Last Rose of Summer", to the delight of her audience. Elsa's Dream was perhaps the high light of her performance, sung in German, and so capably done that no one missed an orchestra.

Mr. Patterson pleased the audience with a group of four songs, among them The Last Song" by Rogers, which the audience seemed to consider the best of the group

Of the three duets sung by Mrs Curran and Mr. Patterson the one which delighted the audience was the frolicsome "La ci darem la mano" from the opera Don Giovanni, sung in Italian.

Many of those present expressed the wish that Mrs. Chasteen had given the audience more solos, but appreciated the fact that she played all the accompaniments, in a very able manner, which is no small feat for a concert pianist.

Among the out of town guests were the following. Mr. and Mrs. Grover Erdmeier. Mr. and Mrs Walter Kaackhaofer, Mr and Mrs Frank Fortner, Mr. and Mrs Roland Ditzler and Miss Fern Ditzler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Plager.

While the proceeds of the concert are to be used for charity, the Wa-Tan-Ye club was also actuated by an inherent belief in the ability of local people to present music in as able a manner as could people from other cities, and their belief was proven right in last night's concert which brought pleasure to so many.

Quincy Dairy Horses To Learn New Routes

Quincy, Ill., Jan 30 (AP) The eight remaining horses in use by a dairy here will have to learn new routes

The Quincy Producers' Cooperative dairy announced yesterday that because of the high cost of maintaining the animals they will be replaced by trucks next Monday.

Dairies in St. Louis and Chicago will buy the eight horses for use on routes in apartment and other densely populated areas where they are still considered more economical than trucks.

Senator Ellender (D-La) said he thinks that while the South has a right to protest against the treatment it is getting from the party, the rebellion will die down.

"The people of the South are not yet ready to secede from the Democratic party," he declared.

Republicans, watching the Democratic argument with open glee, made it clear that they will push their own anti-discrimination bills. They also want the Negro vote.

British, only 12 days ago completed a fast which threatened his life. Gandhi undertook the fast in an effort to smooth relations between Moslems and Hindus.

Gandhi's secretary, S. Kalyanam, wept as he told The Associated Press:

"Bapu is dead."

Bapu was a familiar, affectionate name for the Hindu leader.

The secretary walked away sobbing.

Slayer Mingled with Crowd

The shooting scene was a patch of lawn on the grounds of palatial Birla Mansion, from which Gandhi since December had been conducting public prayer meetings. It was there that he undertook his recent fast. It was there also that a Hindu recently planted a bomb which damaged a wall but did not harm Gandhi.

Bystanders said the assassin had mingled with the crowd at the prayer meeting. He was inconspicuous in khaki clothing which might have come from army surplus stores. Suddenly, it was said, he drew a pistol and fired three times.

Indian leaders had expressed fear that Gandhi's death would mean a bloodpath throughout the continent. Even so, there were some who paraded the streets shouting "Let Gandhi die."

Gandhi undertook the recent fast against the advice of his physicians. He went without food for five days.

The effects of his gesture became noticeable at once. Peace, however uneasy, settled over New Delhi. Two days later, Jan. 21, the bomb exploded near Birla house.

Gandhi asked police to be lenient with the young Hindu who threw it.

Even as he spoke, the Hindu spiritual leader was too weak to walk from the effects of his long fast. He had been carried to that prayer meeting on a chair.

At one of his latest prayer meetings a listener asked Gandhi to proclaim himself a reincariation of God. Gandhi laughed. The speaker persisted and Gandhi, becoming impatient, told him to sit down and be quiet.

When he ended the fast, Gandhi said he was convinced that a pledge of harmony given him by Indian religious leaders would set the country back on the road to peace.

He led crusades against what he considered oppressive conditions, although he remained loyal to the British crown. In 1939, however, Viceroy Lord Linlithgow declared India at war against the axis without consulting any Indian legislative body. Gandhi replied with a civil disobedience campaign, with independence as its ultimate objective.

In July, 1942, Gandhi demanded that Britain hand over the government of India to Indians. The British arrested him on grounds he was hampering the war effort against Japan. He was not placed in jail, however, but was held in custody in the ornate palace of the Aga Khan at Poona.

Interned 21 Months

He was interned there for 21 months then released because of his failing health. During the period of his internment he went on a 21-day hunger strike protesting that the government was using violence to suppress the civil disobedience campaign.

On several occasions Gandhi had announced fasts "to the death." In 1947 he fasted for three days to protest Hindu-Moslem strife in Calcutta. This was his tenth fast, and he warned Hindu and Moslem leaders that more untoward incidents would mean he would continue his hunger strike "unto death."

Gandhi often said much of his philosophy was founded upon Jesus' Sermon on the Mount.

"It went straight to my heart on the first reading," he said. "I felt it contained the truth that renunciation is the highest type of religion. Although I chose a path my Christian friends had not intended, I remain forever indebted for the religious quest they awakened in me."

Gandhi believed in reincarnation.

"I think we all come back here again if we are not pure enough to enter heaven," he said.

Born Oct. 2, 1869

Gandhi was born Oct. 2, 1869, at Porbander. He was reared in an anti-British atmosphere. His father had been a premier of several small native states and once had gone to jail rather than apologize to a British commissioner he had taken to task publicly.

As a boy Gandhi was a shy, backward pupil, but he progressed rapidly in London as a law student. In South Africa he built up a legal practice which brought him about $15,000 a year. But he gave this up in 1908. He had been a Red Cross worker in the Boer war. During World War I he was active in behalf of the allies in organizing ambulance corps and similar work.

But, heading the Nationalist movement, he declared the British government was satanic, and imperialism "the great satan of our day."

In 1927 the British appointed the Simon Commission to examine India's capabilities for self-government. Failure to incluude any Indians in the commission stirred resentment. In 1929 the India National Congress placed Gandhi in charge of a campaign to win complete indcpendence.

His service was unflagging, and he saw it near fruition. But he was sorely disappointed when the subcontinent split into two dominions. His goal was freedom for all India as a nation.

Rev. Merrill Tope's Visits With Gandhi Recalled by Pastor

Methodist Minister To Give Sunday Service to Great Hindu

The Rev. Merrill S. Tope, pastor of the First Methodist church here, and a student of the life of Mohandas K. Gandhi for 25 years, today described the fallen leader as "one of the most powerful men of any age in history."

The Rev. Mr. Tope, who traveled in India on two occasions and visited the home of Gandhi and interviewed him, said that Gandhi, an absolute pauper, practiced the way of Christ, yet never professed Christianity.

"Without even the physical power of a stick he brought the great British empire to its feet time and time again," Rev. Mr. Tope commented today. "He was ruler over millions of people, and yet held no office. His life was one of mystery to the western mind, which thinks of power in terms of guns and so-called practical things."

Described as Mystic

The minister described the Mahatma as a mystic, humble and absolutely sincere.

The Dixon pastor has been a student of Gandhi's life and of India since taking work on a master's degree at Northwestern university in the history of religion, during which he wrote a thesis on the religion of India.

Rev. Mr. Tope said he would speak on Gandhi's life and power at the worship service at 10:45 a. m., Sunday at the Methodist church. He said he would attempt to answer questions as to whether Gandhi was foolish to fast and whether fasting and danger of his death by fasting aided India in his sermon.

Five Holdovers Pace Kahoks to 14-Game String

Collinsville, Ill., Jan. 30—(AP)—Five holdovers from Collinsville high school's 1947 state tournament basketball squad have carved out the unbeaten Kahoks' 14-game victory record in the current campaign.

This all veteran lineup makes up a well-oiled cage machine matched for experience and poise by few downstate quintets.

Sam Miranda, the team's sparkplug and ace shot artist; Ray Sonnenberg, 6-foot 5-inch all state football end, and J. D. Anderson, fiery little guard, were regulars a year ago.

Miranda Top Scorer

Jim Ray, who pairs with Sonnenberg at forward, and Norm Schaulat, regular center, moved up to starting berths this season.

If Collinsville and Pekin's Chinks reach the 16-team finals at Champaign as many fans expect, it may be in the cards for this fivesome to get a chance at avenging the one point defeat by which the Chinks shelved Collinsville's 1947 title bid.

Miranda, whose shot making skill thrilled tournament bugs last March, has tallied more than a third of the team's 738 points to date. Sonnenberg also has shown plenty of scoring talent, helping the outfit to a 53-point a game average.

Suffers Minor Hurts in Six Story Plunge

Kansas City, Jan. 30—(AP)—A 27-year-old World War II veteran plunged six stories from a hotel window to an alley below here today and suffered only minor injuries.

The veteran, Ellis Lee Harmon of Belvidere, Ill., a student in a watchmaking school here, was admitted to the General hospital where attendants said he suffered bruises and lacerations on the right shoulder, arm and thigh.

A roommate, Lester Isaackson of Leonard, Minn., told police Harmon had been nervous for a week.

"He had been brooding and didn't talk much," Isaackson said. "He wouldn't say what was wrong."

A discarded sign board of wood and tin, leaning against the hotel wall in the alley, is believed to have broken the veteran's fall. The sign was badly dented.

Dixon Businessmen Learn of Illinois Markets Activities

Hear Paul L. Graham, General Manager, at Dinner Meeting

Paul L. Gorham, general manager of the Illinois Daily Markets, an organization of 48 daily newspapers in this state, was a Dixon visitor yesterday and the Evening Telegraph took the occasion to have a luncheon meeting of its advertising department yesterday noon and a dinner meeting of Dixon businessmen last evening. Both meetings were held at the Hotel Nachusa and were addressed by Mr. Gorham.

At the dinner meeting last night, attended by nearly sixty Dixon businessmen, including merchants, manufacturers and all varities of business representatives, Ben T. Shaw, who is president of the Illinois Daily Markets this year, presided, and introduced Mr. Gorham, who gave a short talk illustrated with pictures, describing the activities of his organization.

Research Is Valuable

A phase of the activities of the Illinois Daily Markets which is of interest to businessmen all over the state, is the campaign of research put on by the organization to determine the desires and reaction of the buying public to various articles of manufacture. The Illinois Daily Markets uses canvassers all over the state, interviewing housewives, for instance, on the type of goods they desire, how they like it packaged, what they hope to find on the merchant's shelves, and all such information that is of value to the manufacturer and to the retailer. The results of these surveys are published in book form and available to the advertising customers of the daily newspapers who finance and support these valuable activities.

Loop Restaurant Shut Down; Served Horsemeat

Chicago, Jan. 30—(AP)—A Health department inspector took a pretty good look and decided that the "beef tenderloins" found in the refrigerator of a Loop district tavern and resturant yesterday were horsemeat.

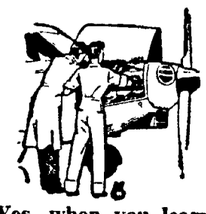

The board of health ordered the place closed.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Health board president, said the manager of the establishment, the Quincy Number Nine tavern (10 West Lake street), told him he bought the meat from a peddler "at a price much below the market for beef tenderloins".

Bobtales

By BOB FALLSTROM

Frank Leeper and Paul Reynolds, deceased DHS athletes to be honored tonight when a memorial plaque is dedicated between halves of the DeKalb-Dixon game, were teammates on the greatest prep quintet ever developed here.

It was the season of 1941-42, you'll recall, when the Dukes went to the "Sweet Sixteen" finals . . . the one and only time a local five has trod the boards of George Huff gym.

In the starring role was Leeper, the smallest player on the team but the sparkplug. As scrappy as they come, pint-sized Frank utilized his handicap to such an extent that he generally is recognized as the top cager in DHS annals.

Frank dumped in 313 points that season, winning conference scoring honors and receiving all-state honorable mention.

Paul Reynolds was pivotman and co-captain of the aggregation. Paul had never played regularly until teaming with the '41-'42 group. However, it was his rebounding and work around the boards that helped produce a winner. He also bagged 179 points.

Rounding out the quint were Co-Captains Cy Shank and Jo Van Meter and John Loftus. Shank flipped 164 points, Loftus contributed 102 and Van Meter came up with 37. Loftus and Van Meter formed a smart defensive combination, as well as providing scoring punch.

Among the team's accomplishments were:

1. The feat of winning 17 of 22 starts.
2. A deadlock for NCIC honors with Princeton and Sterling.
3. The capture of regional tournamenta laurels.
4. Victory in the Ottawa sectional dog-fight, which meant the coveted trip to the state finals.

Decatur took a 53-47 victory in the first round at Champaign, ending the memorable season.

Donald Bush, Ray Joynt and Leslie "Benny" Bremer, whose names also appear on the tablet, were not as spectacular as Leeper or Reynolds but each added a bit to DHS athletic lore.

Bremer was an outstanding competitor of the mid-twenties, Joynt played football in the early '40s and Bush was a footballer and basketball squadman.

And, on the subject of the plaque, we wish to acknowledge the help and aid given on the project by a number of people.

The idea belonged to John Bovey. The money came from many interested fans. Frank Randall was generous enough to assist with design modifications and also handled relations with the Cincinnati firm that turned out the finshed product.

George Lindquist will install the plaque free of charge on the gym wall and John Cahill is equipping the handsome memorial with a suitable lighting fixture. Without these contributions, needless to say, the job couldn't have proved successful.

SHORT SHOTS—Station WLPO of LaSalle is planning to wire record the Hall Township-Princeton championship Bureau county tournament bout tonight for re-broadcast tomorrow morning . . . Willie Dickens, Freeport's star center, closes his prep career tonight against Joliet. A mid-year graduate, the 6-5 Dickens netted 147 points in 15 games. . .

Princeton, Hall Meet Tonight for Bureau Co. Title

Princeton, Jan. 30—(Special)—Princeton and Hall Township clash again tonight in the finals of the Bureau county tournament. It will be their second meeting of the season. Princeton won, 62-49, a week ago.

In last night's semi-finals, Princeton rolled over Bureau Township, 59-29, but Hall was pressed to the final gun by Manlius. Ken Weeks dropped in a field goal in the last 30 seconds to give the Redmen a hard-earned 51-49 triumph.

At one point early in the fourth stanza, Manlius boasted a lead of seven points.

These five deceased Dixon high school athletes, who lost their lives in World War II, will be posthumously honored this evening when a plaque dedicated to their memory is presented to Principal B. J. Frazer between halves of the DeKalb-Dixon basketball game.

Costing $220, the beautiful bronze tablet, was made possible by fans' contributions.

Under a shield of the U. S. flag, the plaque reads: "This tablet erected in honor of lettermen of Dixon high school who gave their lives for their country during World War II."

The name, rank, date and place of death and branch of service insignia follows for each of the five.

A simple inscription, "Dedicated to their memory by the fans of Dixon high school," adorns the bottom of the plaque.

Winter Olympics On; No Hockey Decision

BULLETIN

St. Moritz, Switzerland, Jan. 30—(AP)—The United States' Amateur Hockey association team bowed to Switzerland, 5-4, today shortly after official opening of the fifth Winter Olympic games.

There was still doubt that the hockey competition would be recognized as an official Olympic event.

St. Moritz, Switzerland, Jan. 30—(AP)—The fifth winter Olympics opened in this majestic Alpine valley today under the shadow of a bitter United States hockey controversy that left the status of the sport in doubt.

The dispute over whether Olympic hockey will be played remained unresolved as crack athletes from 28 nations marched in the colorful opening parade.

Barely an hour after the ceremonies, the U. S. Amateur Hockey Association team began playing Switzerland in what had been billed as the first event of the Olympics but angry feuding persisted over whether it really was an Olympic game.

92 From U. S.

The International Olympic committee earlier had voted 16 to 10 to bar both the AHA and U S Olympic Committee hockey squads from competition But the Swiss organizing committee insisted the AHA team should play.

The United States had one of the largest delegations—92 men and women.

The national squads marched in this order: Greece, Argentina, Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, Korea, Denmark, Spain, United States, Finland, France, England, Holland, Hungary, Iceland, Italy, Lebanon, Liechenstein, Norway, Poland, Romania, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Turkey, Yugoslavia and Switzerland.

COACHES Lee Davison (Dixon), George Dertinger (DeKalb)

DeKalb and Dixon, tied for eighth place in the 10-team North Central Illinois conference, get together here tonight in what figures to be a bang-up match.

On paper, DeKalb holds a distinct edge. The Barbs, coached by George Dertinger, whom Dixon Coach Lee Davison terms as the "best in the business," show a record of five wins and eight defeats but three of the triumphs have been scored in succession recently.

Against this mark, Dixon puts up a 5-12 slate. Each team owns a 1-3 conference record. Dixon having bested Geneseo, 52-50, while DeKalb upset Rock Falls last week, 42-32

A lineup composed of Johnny Eckhart, Jim Phelps, Loren Munson, Capt. George Wallace and Stan Fish is Davison's likely choice. Eckhart is fully recovered from an ankle injury and probably will move back onto full time status in place of Steve Christ.

McKinzie, Overmeyer Stars

DeKalb's probable first five includes Jim McKinzie, George Postich, Roger Woodrum, Junior Overmeyer and Bill Fuller. McKinzie and Overmeyer lead the offensive with fancy shooting their forte.

Overmeyer, unheard of until recently, sparked the Black and Orange to victories over Decatur and East Moline and was instrumental in the Rock Falls victory Friday.

The leadoff game at 7 o'clock will give Coach Wally Coon's frosh-sophs another chance to improve upon their 4-8 won-lost figure.

A 28-23 win at Hall Township snapped a five-game losing streak but Ottawa pulled out a 36-29 victory last week

Coon is expected to start Jim Mercer and Don Sproul at forwards, Jack Nolan at center and Floyd Acker and Bob Leonard at guards.

Between halves of the varsity game, dedication ceremonies for the memorial plaque honoring five lettermen who lost their lives in World War II will be held. Attorney James E. Bales is to give a short speech and present the plaque to Principal B. J. Frazer.

WINS EASILY BUT ...

Joe Aging, Chicago Exhibition Proves

Chicago, Jan. 30 (AP)—"Just how far has Joe Louis slipped"—the big question that has been puzzling the boxing world for the past two months remained as puzzling as ever today with this exception

The Brown Bomber, at the age of 33, is no longer the devastating bomber of old when he knocked out 22 in 25 title defenses over a 10-year span Age is catching up to him very rapidly.

The world's heavyweight champion last night engaged in his first test with the gloves since his disputed split decision over Jersey Joe Walcott in New York last Dec 5 by giving Bob Foxworth a one-sided boxing lesson in a four-round exhibition

Foxworth, 24 year old East St. Louis, Ill., aspirant to the light heavyweight championship, had won 16 out of 18 bouts, 14 by knockouts. However, he offered no line on Louis since he had never met him before, was outweighed by 43 pounds, lacked height and weight to match Louis; was outclassed and obviously scared stiff.

Wins Every Round

Louis won every round easily although the Illinois State Athletic commission would not permit a decision The timid Foxworth was always in retreat, aiming to keep out of danger.

Louis said he weighed 220 pounds. He certainly looked it. There were tiny rolls of fat rippling over his mid-section, but he plodded in from the opening gong and delivered his punches like lightning flashes. He didn't move fast, but his hands did. They wore the big 16-ounce gloves.

Foxworth, who weighed only 177, said Louis possessed the fastest pair of hands he had ever seen.

The exhibition was staged before 9,556 fans who paid $36,402.36. More than 1,000 stood and hundreds were turned away.

This Sunday at the Recreation Ken is having a mixed doubles with bowling starting around 8 o'clock. You may choose your own partner and enter anytime before the bowling starts. Full handicap. Next Thursday Ken is rolling in the Paterson Classic in Chicago and at present, several other keglers plan to make the trip with him to cheer him on. When Al Vorhis showed up to bowl Wednesday night on the Dixon Hatchery team he complained of a bad cold but no one realized how badly he felt until the last frame of the last game when Al, after making the 7-7 split threw his next ball in the gutter which made all the rest of us feel bad, but we won anyway, so no harm done. After rolling 523 last week Hank Lowry like so many of the rest of us, had discovered his faults and corrected them so last night, with a little jigger riding on rolling more than Eileen Klein's 168 of Wednesday night, Hank was all confidence until after his session at the Lanes which gave him a 156 total. Joe Miller has shaken up his Boynton Richard lineup with the result that although the individual scores dropped, they stepped back into the win column, taking two games Wednesday night from United Cigar with none of his keglers hitting 500, Gene Barrowman being high with 197. After soaking up some California Sunshine Wayne Williams stepped into the leadoff spot and led his Studebaker Sales to a two-game win for the second straight week. Full handicap. Britain and France Left Cold by Nazi-Russian Agreement

Pre-War II History Has Moral: Appeasement Doesn't Work

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The U. S. state department's disclosure of details of the pre-war Russo-German negotiations, resulting in the non-aggression pact that precipitated the world conflict, has brought this column an inquiry as to what the Anglo-French allies were doing while Hitler was achieving this coup and had Moscow offering to join him against the western allies for a price so high that he wouldn't pay it

Well, the short but exact answer is that Britain and France missed the boat Actually they had a mission in Moscow trying to make a treaty when Stalin signed with the fuehrer.

Munich Ended Appeasement

The tragic Munich agreement of September, 1938, under which the western allies sold Czechoslovakia down the river to Hitler, was the beginning of the end of appeasement by London and Paris Then in the following March when the nazi dictator marched troops into Czechoslovakia, England was shocked into a realization of the danger facing Europe As a result Britain and France decided to meet force with force if necessary, and by April of '39 we find Britain negotiating with Russia for a mutual assistance pact, France already having one with Moscow. From then on, negotiations dragged until brought to a sensational end by the Hitler-Stalin non-aggression pact.

"The British (and French) have justified their failure to conclude a pact with Russia on several grounds," says the Encyclopaedia Britannica year book for 1939. It has been said that Poland refused to accept Russian military aid, that the Russian military aid would in fact prove to be a liability, that the allies could not join Russia in domination of the Baltic states, and finally that Russia had no desire to help the allies

Russ Were Excluded

It remains true that Russia is a totalitarian state, familiar with the rules of power politics, and concerned primarily with the welfare of the Soviet Union England and France have equal concern for their individual welfare, but were pursuing the policy of defending the rights of small nations against the technique of "white war"

"Again, Russia had been excluded in the negotiations at Munich and the Soviet statesmen suspected the sincerity of British and French proposals for either diplomatic or military agreements."

And what would have happened if Russia and the western allies had come to terms? You tell me that, and I'll tell you what would have happened if Eve hadn't eaten the apple in the Garden of Eden.

Always Be Prepared

Moreover, Hitler was bent on ground for speculation. First off, it is a safe bet that no agreement of any description would have altered Moscow's policy of waging world revolution for the establishment of Communism. That's an immutable policy, and we should have had to come up against it in due course.

Moreover, Hitler was ben on conquest and would have struck sooner or later, no matter what sort of Russo-British-French pact threatened him. Still, an agreement between Moscow and western allies might well have delayed the global war, thereby giving them a chance to arm for the show-down. Had that happened, the conflict might have been greatly shortened and the world might have escaped much of the chaos which finally was inflicted on it.

A corollary is that chaos was precisely what Communism needed for revolution and expansion. This being so, we might not be involved in a "cold war" with the Soviet Union now.

Anyway, there are two great lessons to be learned from the events just prior to the war: Don't practice appeasement, and always be prepared for eventualities.

HOLLYWOOD

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood —(AP) — Columbia studios has discovered that it doesn't have exclusive rights to one of its hottest stars, Glenn Ford

First of all, the actor is committed to a Ginger Rogers film, as part of her payment for "It Had To Be You". Now someone discovers that he owes a picture to United Artists. 'Way back in 1940, before he was a star, Glenn was loaned to U. A. for two pictures He made only one "So Ends Our Night" with Frederic March and Margaret Sullavan

Columbia which has Glenn under contract for only two more years is mightily perturbed.

Rita Hayworth tells me her long-awaited "Lady From Shanghai" is still being held up for a choice of two endings. That's the one she made with Orson Welles during a brief armistice in their marital battles. After "Carmen", Rita plans another vacation trip. perhaps to Europe..

Jackie Cooper is hitting the road in his first stage appearance. After "Kilroy On Deck" at Monogram, he'll tour the west coast in "Sleep It Off" with Ann Corio..

The Jackie Coogans are expecting their third child in a few weeks The former kid star is dickering for parts in two flings. He prefers picture making to the night club circuit, but may return to the bistros if his Hollywood plans don't pan out ..

Don Ameche swings east after "Let's Fall in Love" to continue the search for an L. A. Dons coach. Don says the pro football team is almost out of the red and he hopes a sharp coach will be able to provide a profit by next season.

Hollywood — (AP) — MGM is bending every effort to make the "Mrs. Miniver" sequel as good as the original and even offered Noel Coward the writing job. But he turned it down.

Coward replied that he had never tried to write about somebody else's characters and didn't want to start now. The future of the Greer Garson-Walter Pidgeon opus is still in doubt.

Orson Welles is dreaming up another of his amazing projects. reports a traveler from Rome, where Orson is making "Cagliostro". He is said to be proposing a film "Othello", to be made in Vienna with James Mason. Mason would be offered his choice of the Othello or Iago roles, and Sir Alexander Korda is reported in on the deal....

Howard Duff is devoting full time to his Sam Spade air show until the Helliger company, which owns his seven-year contract, is reorganized. He'll be a hot bet after "The Naked City" is released..After "The Pitfall", Dick Powell plans to make a series of golf shorts with Pro Dick Hogan..

"Relentless" (Col) is a color western with a few different elements. Among other things, it includes a four-way chase—Marguerite Chapman after Akim Tamiroff after Robert Young after Barton MacLane. Otherwise it is standard action fare: Exciting scenery, hard-biting drama, familiar plot.

BABSON'S Authentic Statement

Copyright—1948—Publishers Financial Bureau, Incorporated

BABSON DISCUSSES WEATHER

Babson Park, Fla.—Letters are coming to me stating that the Old Farmers' Almanac is forecasting a summer for 1948 similar to that famous summer of 1816 when there was freezing, or at least a frost, every month of the year. Upon reading carefully this publication, I do not find such a statement, although it describes this cold summer of 1816. This fact might lead a reader naturally to think that a similar summer is expected in 1948.

What About Sunspots?

There are many people who believe that a very close relationship exists between weather conditions and sunspots. Those who are interested in the details of such a study should write to Prof. H. C. Willett, Meteorology department, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass., or Prof. H. T. Stetson, author of "Sunspots in Action," care Ronald Press, 15 East 26th street, New York 10, N. Y. Probably there is some connection between sunspots and both crops and business which we do no yet understand. The science of all forecasting is in its infancy. Briefly the Sunspot Theory is that when these spots are very brilliant and active, we suffer from either, or both, very hot and very cold weather. It is further true that these sunspots will be brilliant in 1948.

On the other hand, since the cold summer of 1816, when the sunspots were very brilliant, there have been many other years when the sunspots were equally brilliant and when none of the corresponding years were badly upset by weather conditions. Therefore, as a statistician, I would say that there is no existing evidence for farmers to worry about concerning sunspots, although there may be much for the radio broadcasting companies to worry about from sunspots. In short, all scientists believe that sunspots have an important effect upon the vegetation of the earth as well as upon the men and animals—but not enough evidence exists to enable forecasts to be based thereon.

1816 Cold Summer

After careful study of this famous 1816 summer, I conclude that the cause of the low temperatures was the dust in the air covering the skies of the entire world. It was a year of several volcanoes in action. These might well have caused dust in the air which could shut off the sunshine. I further understand that certain other cold summers have come along in conjunction with many dust storms and other causes.

The above is not saying that 1948 may not witness a cold summer, but farmers and others will be wise to plan upon normal weather, at least so far as temperature is concerned. As to rainfall, this seems to follow a cycle and many sections of the United States are now entering a dry cycle. Crops which can prosper with little rainfall are to be preferred during 1948.

Importance of Diversification

The failure of certain crops due to a wet spring or early frost, or too much or too little rainfall, may be expected almost any yaer. On the other hand, as years go on, each crop failure should be less disastrous than preceding ones owing to the lessons which may be learned. The important thing, however, which all farmers and others interested in farm crops should recognize is the importance of diversification of both location and rotation so that a fair portion of the crops will come through safely whatever may happen to certain other crops.

When Purchasing a Farm

Now a word of advice to those who are looking for farms, but have not yet purchased one: Get a farm in the central part of the country which is not too subject either to dry spells oro wet spells. Buy a farm equally divided between upland and bottomland, with woodland and with an independent water supply. Before making any purchase, visit the new U. S. irrigation developments in the southwest. They are worthy of careful study as the so-called "Arid" land is very, very rich. The very fact that it has not had rainfall, causes it to retain the minerals and vitamins which have been largely washed out of much farm land subject to normal rainfall throughout the centuries.

Survey Cold Wave Damage to Peaches

Centralia, Ill., Jan. 30—(AP)—Peach orchardists took count today of damages suffered in the cold wave.

In a poll of a dozen growers in the Centralia area it was estimated the kill of peach buds ran from 50 to 80 per cent. But the consensus was that "a fair crop" still is indicated in the heavy producing fruit belt.

The peach crop is expected by orchardists to be short of the big ones of the last three years.

They base this prediction on these factors:

Low temperatures Tuesday of 12 below in some orchards to one to two below in others.

Weakened trees resulting from three successive years of heavy yields.

A relatively poor set of buds blamed on last fall's drought.

Temperatures in Anna, Corben, Carbondale, Elberta and Hale Haven area were above those of the Centralia area and peach buds come out a bit better in these southern sections. Ten below is accepted as the "dangerous" temperatures while buds are in their current dormant stages.

Another view of the bud killing was taken by optimistic observers. These sources pointed out that trees normally have up to 10 times the number of buds needed for normal yields and that the cold wave kill simply made some thinning unnecessary. They said the weaker buds usually are killed, that orchards on higher grounds suffered little or no damage and that better cared orchards suffered small damage.

Astoria Greenhouse Destroyed by Fire

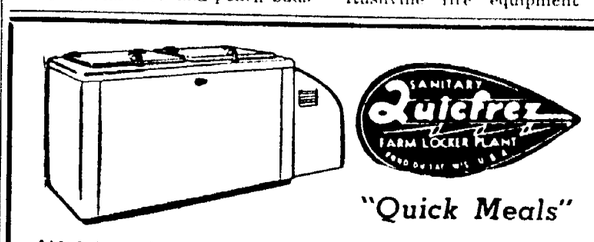

Astoria, Ill., Jan. 29—(AP)—The Melvin Gain greenhouse was destroyed by fire early today, with loss estimated by Gain at $5,000 to $6,000.

Gain said the fire started from defective wiring. Astoria firemen reached the scene while the blaze was small but found their hoses too short to reach the nearest fire hydrant four blocks away.

Rushville fire equipment was called, but the firemen found the hydrant was frozen, and no water was available.

Astoria is 35 miles south of Canton.

Chicago Judges Ponder Higher Traffic Fines

Chicago, Jan. 30—(AP)—Municipal Court judges have under consideration a new schedule of traffic fines which would either cut down the volume of their business or boost cost of offenses more than fourfold.

Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler said a higher schedule of fines, which now net the city about $800,000 a year, will be placed in effect "Before June 1."

The schedule now under consideration would boost parking fines from $3 to $15 for repeat offenders and speeding fines from $16 for a first offense to $24, with higher penalties for repeaters.

Unless there is a decline from present number of offenses, the schedule would boost the annual total of fines to an estimated $4,000,000.

High Court Blast at Illinois is Answered in Barrett's Report

One Per Cent of Petitions Accepted by Supreme Court for Hearing

Springfield, Jan. 30—A scant one per cent of Illinois prisoners' petitions to the United States Supreme court the past four years have been accepted by that court for hearing, and of the one per cent, no prisoner has been given an absolute discharge by the high court, a report by Attorney General George F. Barrett has disclosed.

Two prisoners, both paupers, did obtain orders for further proceedings in state courts at Barrett's own request after his study of the records revealed that they were clearly entitled to further investigation in Illinois courts.

Total of 701 Petitions

Barrett's report, covering the year's 1944-47, revealed that 701 petitions were filed with the Supreme court by Illinois prisoners. The vast majority of the petitions sought writs of certiorari or habeas corpus. Of the 701, the Supreme court summarily dismissed all but eight without a hearing. Of the eight petitions which the court heard, five were denied, one case is still pending, and the other two granted the prisoners further hearing at Barrett's request.

One of the two petitions granted was that of Tony Marino, who was convicted of murder in Winnebago county in 1925. Barrett, pointing out that Marino was 18 years old at the time of his conviction, was facing a possible death penalty, had no legal counsel, and was unable to speak English, asked the Supreme court to grant his petition. All that Marino obtained was the right to a fair trial in Winnebago county.

Answers Recent Blast

The other petition which was granted was that of Arthur C. McLaren who, in 1946, sought a hearing to demonstrate a restoration of his sanity. McLaren, who had been committed as insane in 1917, was denied a sanity hearing by the Criminal court of Cook county in 1946, and petitioned the U. S. Supreme court for a writ of certiorari ordering that his sanity hearing be granted. Attorney General Barrett, pointing out that the Criminal court had been in error in denying McLaren a hearing, asked the Supreme court to grant his petition and order the sanity hearing held.

At the time of the Marino decision last December, Justice Wiley Rutledge of the Supreme court issued a lengthy opinion criticizing Illinois criminal procedure, but the record released by Barrett today shows that the Supreme court itself has granted no relief to any Illinois prisoner during the past four years except at the request of the State of Illinois, itself, made through Barrett as Attorney General. Despite Justice Rutledge's opinion, Illinois has not lost a single criminal case in the U. S. Supreme court during seven years of Barrett's administration.

Articulate Convicts

The four-year record of petitions by Illinois prisoners is as follows:

Year	No. Filed	No. Heard	Granted
1944	141	2	0
1945	175	1	0
1946	322	3	1*
1947	63	3	1*
	701	8	2

*Error confessed; One case pending.

In releasing the figures, Attorney General Barrett commented only that "the record seems to demonstrate principally that the convicts in Illinois are more articulate and more writ-conscious than the convicts of any other state."

Canton Brothers Held on Charges of Murder

Canton, Ill., Jan. 30—(AP)—Circuit Judge Burton A. Roeth has ordered Lee and Chris Allaman, brothers, held for grand jury action on a charge of murdering Donati Cardosi, Canton night club operator.

Cardosi died Sunday of injuries which police said he suffered in a fight at his place earlier that day.

A Fulton county coroner's jury previously had recommended that the brothers be held pending grand jury action and State's Attorney Lachlan Crissey said he would ask recall of the January grand jury to consider the case.

Judge Roeth overruled yesterday at Lewistown a motion on behalf of the brothers for a writ of habeas corpus and fixed bond at $10,000 each.

Labor Federation's Political Actions To Be "Voluntary"

Free-Will Contributions of $1 Per Year Expected of All Members

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30—(AP)—A former new deal congressman from Milwaukee apparently had the inside track today for appointment as director of the AFL's biggest political venture—the $7,500,000 "Leaegue for Political Education."

Andrew J. Beimiller, 41-year-old labor organizer-legislator, was reported to have won the approval of a subcommittee and his name will go before the 15-man executive council meeting here today.

Quick concurrence in the subcommittee's choice for the $10,000 post was expected by several council members, who added that the league's full administrative committee of 30 would pass on the selection at its meeting here Feb. 4.

The council members make up half of that committee, to which has been assigned the task of setting up the ambitious political program aimed at repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and defeat of its congressional supporters.

"Voluntary" Contributions

The drive is to be financed with voluntary contributions which President William Green has figured at a minimum of $1 apiece from the approximately 7,200,000 AFL members.

Assisting Biemiller, if he receives the final nod, will be Joseph E. Keenan, Chicago Federation of Labor official and a labor adviser to the War Production Board during the war.

Headquarters for the league will be across Lafayette park in Washington, facing the White House.

Supplementing the political league's activities, the AFL shortly will open a nationwide "education and information" program financed directly from the federation's treasury. This will cost more than $400,000 annually, with at least a quarter of that amount to be spent in the nation's capital.

Present plans call for a battery of newsmen and illustrators in Washington and for a network of news and information services in major cities like New York, Chicago, Detroit, New Orleans, San Francisco, and others.

To Corporate With Others

Biemiller and Keenan, however, would have the task of running the AFL's separate political campaign and dove-tailing it where possible with the activities of other labor groups with similar aims.

The CIO has its own Political Action Committee (PAC), and there was no indication that these two big labor groups would get together.

Biemiller served in the 79th congress, and more recently has been acting as educational director for the AFL-Upholsterers. Like Keenan, he was an adviser on labor for the War Production Board in early years of the war before election to congress.

While the political and educational issues were expected to take much of the council's attention today, President Woodruff Randolph of the International Typographical union was also scheduled to confer with the members on the ITU's fight over the Taft-Hartley ban on the closed shop.

Testing Program Allows Vets Test To Get Diplomas

Responsibility of a home or employment commitments do not prevent veterans of World War II from obtaining high school diplomas. Through a special testing service developed by the American Council of Education, it is possible for a veteran to take a general educational development test at 38 secondary and private schools in Illinois. If passed satisfactorily, a high school diploma is issued. If a veteran passed the G. E. D. test while in the service, he may now apply for a high school diploma by submitting evidence of having passed the test.

Purpose of the testing program is to permit those veterans, who otherwise would be unable to return to school, an opportunity to obtain a diploma to assist in securing employment, meeting requirements for state licensing and qualifying for jobs and college entrance.

During the past 18 months, more than 20,000 World War II vets in Illinois have secured high school diplomas. Opportunities are also available for veterans to obtain elementary school diplomas by submitting to and showing proficiency in an appropriate reading test. An estimated 3,000 former servicemen have taken advantage of the benefit.

Information and assistance in making arrangements for the G. E. D. testing can be secured at any I. V. C. office in the state. In Lee county I. V. C. offices are located at 105 East Second street in the Worsley building with Albert Ruggles as county service officer.

Best Wolf Traps in U. S. Listed in New Fashion Baedecker

Chicago is "A Mixture of Good and Bad Fashion" in National List

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—A lady who says she is a "beauty engineer" has done the traveling bachelor a favor.

She's come up with a list of 10 cities where she says you can find the best dressed women.

This Baedecker of American style-conscious communities has been compiled by Mrs. Veronica Dengel, president of the American Women's Institute. Mrs. Dengel, who is 46, five-feet-eight inches tall and darkhaired, has written books on "Hold Your Man" and other problems of the harried sex. Her institute does a mail order business in advice to fashion-lorn damsels who can't get to the big city.

A poll of 500 fashion leaders throughout the country, she said, disclosed that the three cities with the lowest rating for well-dressed women were:

Chicago Among Lowest

(1) Boston—"Slow, too cautious, never catching up until a fashion is well established."

(2) Chicago—"A mixture of good and bad fashion where east and west meet."

(3 Palm Beach (yes, Palm Beach)—"Surrounded by beauty in clothes, but not properly affected by it"—whatever that means.

Now to get on to the places where a fellow can make a date and be fairly sure the gal will show the most "ingenuity in dress, newness of style and wear proper fashions best suited" to her personality. Here they are in the order Mrs. Dengel lists them in her own fashionable prose:

New York Rates High

(1) New York City—"The sophisticated new look"—where women who are the nation's fashion leaders accept new styles and try them willingly.

(2) Atlanta—"The soft southern look"—they couple smart fashion with southern grace and dignity.

(3) Miami—"The provocative look"—they adapt the new and colorful in fashion to their colorful city needs.

(4) Detroit—"The mature look"—the women are anxious to improve constantly in fashion consciousness just as their city is improving in its national importance.

"The Refreshing Look"

(5) Washington —"The refreshing look"—here the business girl proves it is possible to dress well on a budget when one plans carefully.

(6) Philadelphia—"The pert look"—the quiet smartness of their city is reflected in the unerring choice of beautiful, wearable clothes.

(7) Dallas— "The piquant look"—beautiful girls and beautiful clothes in a beautiful city.

(8) San Francisco—"The intriguing look"—Western charm with eastern flair for distinctive dressing.

(9) . Salt Lake City — "The wholesome look"—simple, casual living, in clothes with a fashion rightness.

(10) Seattle—"The exciting look"—a plus quality in a city where everything seems to be a little 'extra.'

Well, boys, there's where the best dressed clothes horses dwell—according to Mrs. Dengel and her poll pals. But they make no community where a man with a slim pocketbook can find a lass and keep her in the finery she wants to become accustomed to.
